Testimonials

Helen Edgar, Autistic Realms

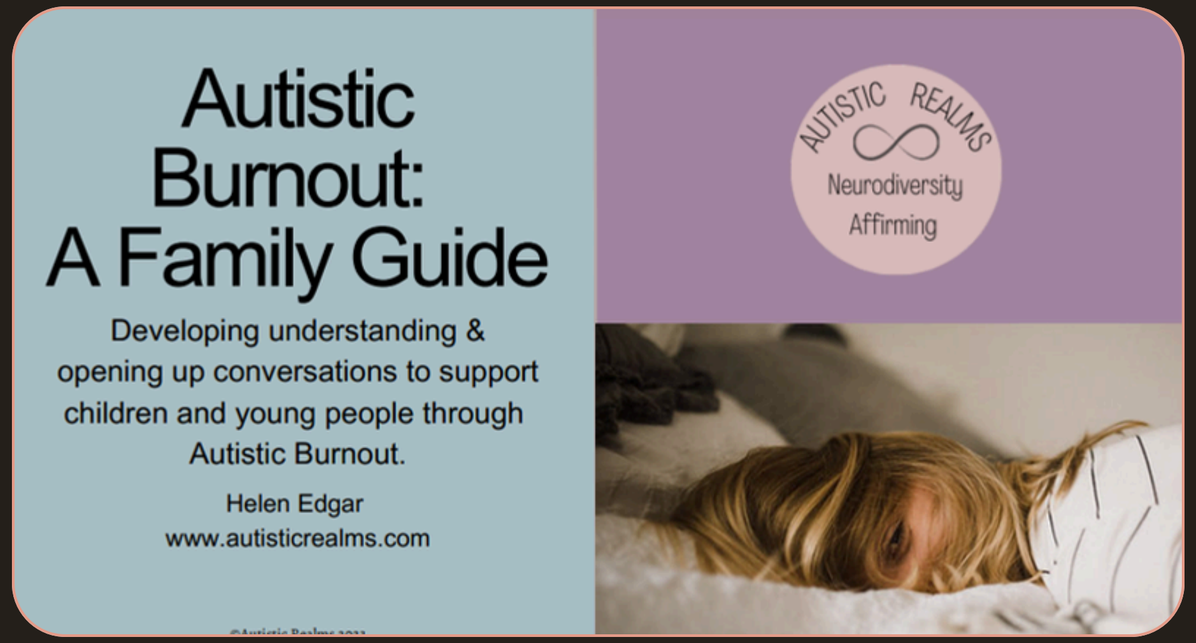

Comments from public nominations, National Diversity Awards 2026
Nominee, Positive Role Model Award for Disability

Professional generosity

National Diversity Awards 2026 nomination

“Helen goes above and beyond to support children, families and professionals. She is the most professionally generous human I know. She brings so much knowledge and curiosity to all she does.”

Accessible communication

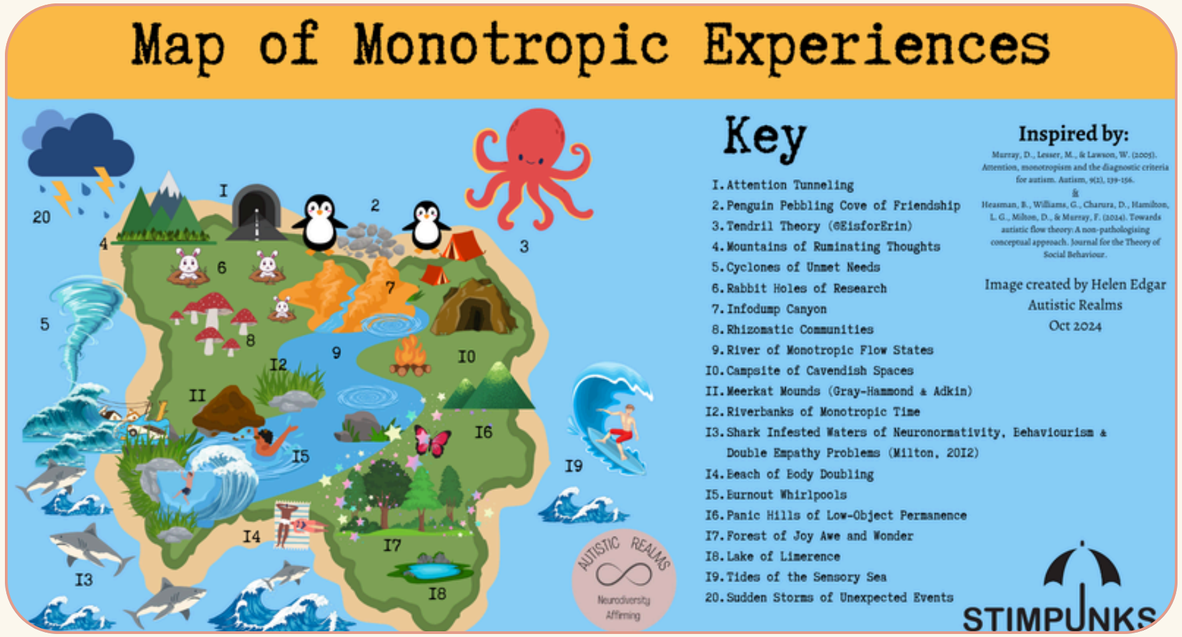

National Diversity Awards 2026 nomination

“...their dedication to learning and communicating complex concepts in an accessible format is second to none.”

Generous expertise

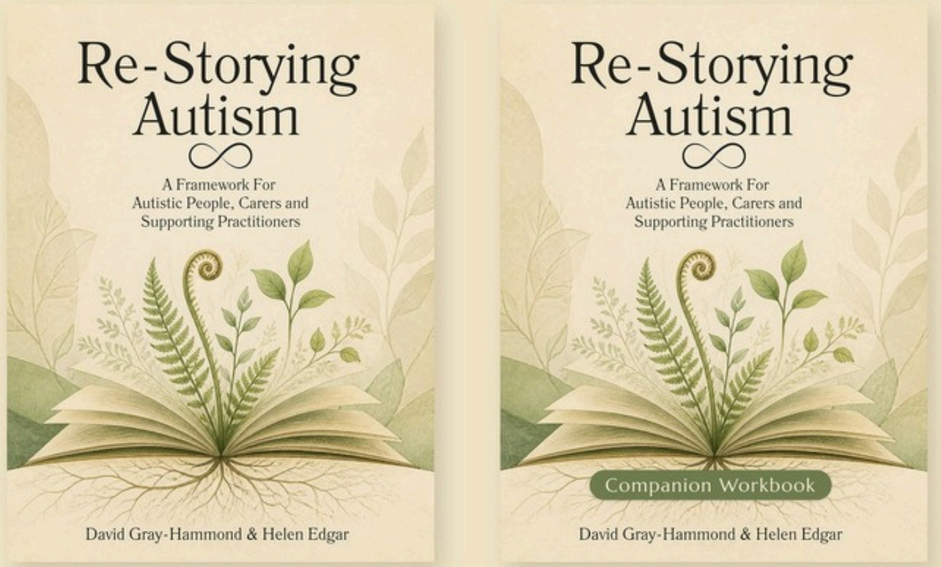

National Diversity Awards 2026 nomination

“Generous with her expertise. Explains everything very clearly. Wonderful resources.”

Knowledge passed on

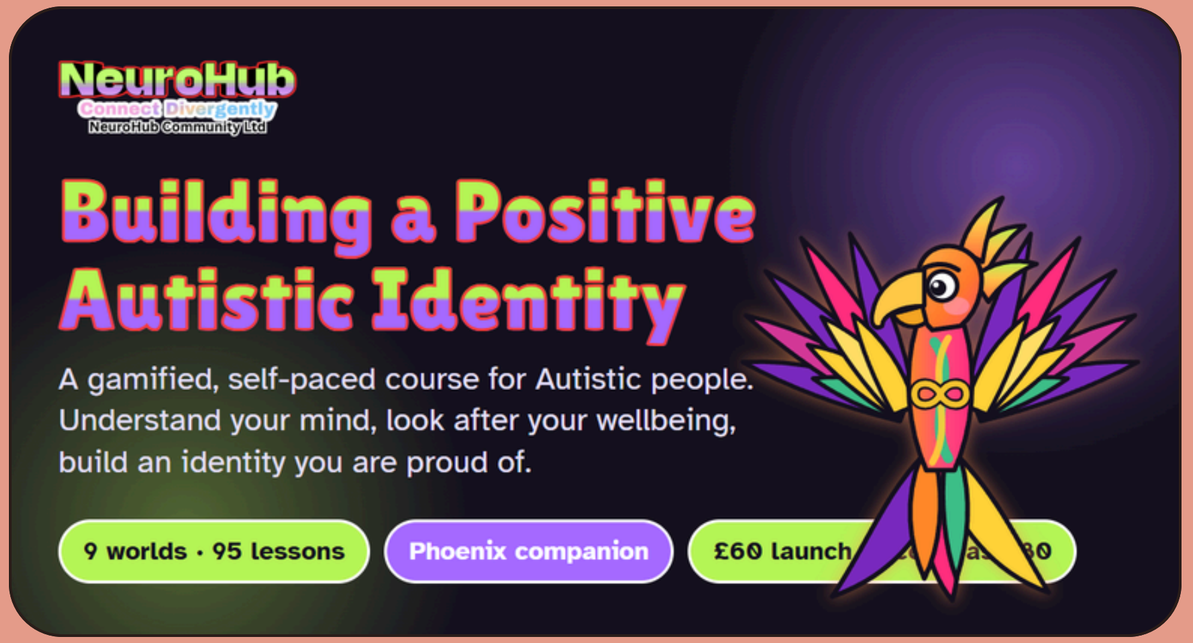

National Diversity Awards 2026 nomination

“Her writing and resources have helped my learning that I pass on to clients and supervisees. This knowledge is essential and needed.”

Proud Autistic identity

National Diversity Awards 2026 nomination

“Her content educated me to the point of confidently calling myself proud and educating others about the real experiences of being Autistic.”

Building spaces together

National Diversity Awards 2026 nomination

“...someone who doesn't just advocate for disabled and neurodivergent people, but builds spaces with them, from the inside out.”

In a few words

National Diversity Awards 2026 nominations

01 Resources

“Provides outstanding resources.”

02 Inclusion

“Excellent work towards inclusion.”

03 Research and education

“Excellence in research, education and support.”

04 Positivity

“So inspiring and positive.”

Thank you

Training, consultancy and talks autisticrealms.com/training

Email
helen@autisticrealms.com

About these comments
Thank you to everyone who nominated me. All comments are shared anonymously, from public nominations for the Positive Role Model Award for Disability, National Diversity Awards 2026.